

Know which clients need you — before they tell you.

Every morning, one screen shows exactly which enterprise clients are pulling away from the program, ranked by urgency, with a plain-English reason and a next step for each one.

WHAT IT IS

A morning check-in screen that replaces memory and scattered spreadsheets with one ranked view.

WHO IT'S FOR

Colaberry's customer success managers, covering the current roster of active enterprise clients.

"Clients rarely leave without warning signs — this makes sure nobody misses them until it's too late."

WHY IT'S WORTH FIVE MINUTES

Catch it early

Spot a disengaged client in week one, not three months later at renewal time.

One glance, not three tabs

Replaces the spreadsheet-and-memory routine with a single ranked list, ready before your first coffee.

No digging required

Every flagged client comes with a plain-English reason and a clear next step, not just a number.

Runs itself overnight

Updates quietly each night, so the picture is always current when you log in.
